New Journal with New Vision

Abdlatif A. Alghaiheb
Professor of pharmacy practice, Department of Clinical pharmacy, College of pharmacy, King Saud University.

In the past several years, I was nominated from Saudi Pharmaceutical Society to be head of society twice in my life. During that’s period I was responsible of SPJ publication with collaboration with pharmacy faculties colleagues to facilitate all related issues for the journal. Now a days once best pharmacy journal published in Saudi Arabia and indexed in the famous indexing database stating from google scholar to pubmed indexes. The journal remained specialized in the pharmacy based only. With new Saudi vision of 2030 and though healthcare and pharmacy strategic planning to work altogether with healthcare providers to best high quality innovative health services to our citizens, Middle East and rest of world populations.

It is my pleasure to write the first editorial letter to the new electronic journal in the field of pharmacy and health sciences field in the Saudi and Middle East and the rest of the world. The journal wishes the publish the best, high-quality peer review of all type research related if pharmacy and health sciences from overall the world and reach the best Biomedical journal in the world. The journal had mission, visions, values, and goals as follows.

Vision
